

North Northamptonshire Council unitary election

On 7 May this year residents in Corby Borough, East Northamptonshire, Kettering Borough and the Borough of Wellingborough will be able to vote for the councillors who will serve on the new North Northamptonshire unitary council.

A total of 78 councillors will be elected for North Northamptonshire – three seats for each of the 26 electoral wards which are based on similar geographical areas to the existing county council division areas.

The new councillors will serve for five years, until the next set of elections in 2025. The new North Northamptonshire Council will legally become responsible for the delivery of local services on 1st April 2021, up until that date (ie, from the date of the 2020 election) the newly elected councillors will serve on a shadow authority that will be responsible for setting up the new council so that it is ready to be operational from 1st April 2021.
